JERRY CHALEM SCULPTURE EXHIBITION & BENEFIT FOR SICA

Subud New York is hosting an exhibit and sale of the sculpture and artwork of our late Subud brother, Jerry Chalem 1930-2012, to benefit several SICA projects. For those of you who did not know Jerry, he was a long-time member of Subud who managed the creation of the space that is now Subud Chelsea Center, NY. While enjoying a successful business career, he produced a body of sculpture, reliefs and constructions that were deeply felt and appreciated by everyone who viewed them. In addition to making art himself, he facilitated the projects and careers of countless other artists throughout his life.

One of Jerry's most beloved projects was the audio and video interviews he taped of early support you are able to offer Subud East Coast.

Subud members from around the world. In order to finish this project and to make it available to the Subud community, Jerry's family has provided more than seventy of his works to be exhibited at Subud Chelsea Center and online. Proceeds from the sales generated by this exhibit will support the interview project and other SICA endeavors at the local, national and international levels.

The gallery opening will be held on May 3 & 4, 2014 from 4-7 pm at the Subud Chelsea Center in New York City and will continue through the end of June. A link to the exhibit website will be posted on the Subud NY website.

Describing his own art, Jerry wrote the following: "In every rejected object, abandoned and forgotten, lies a spirit. This spirit is the essence, the soul, the heart, the core of its being. It is the story of its past and the music of its future life. It is the basic unique character imbued into it by its original creator and the form made for it by the basic elemental forces of nature. Each object in any of my works has been chosen because I sensed and felt in it a very strong and haunting presence. It is this presence or spirit that makes the movement and sets the pace for each piece. These are not inanimate objects but living, happy, joyous spirits singing in beautiful harmony with every other open and sensitive spirit receptive and open enough to receive them."

For those who knew Jerry or know of him and for those who wish to know more about someone whose generosity, humanity, spontaneity and freedom touched so many and whose spirit and values live on, residing in his artwork, you may contact the following Subud members for more information about the exhibit and the projects to be supported.
